Note: Apparently the Neapolitan archives give no strengths for the Neapolitan army on the date of the battle. It is reported that Murat had 17,609 men, 3,828 horse and 38 cannons present (Bianchi, Operations Journal). The Mittheilungen des K.u.K. Kriegs Archives' work Österreich's Kriege seit 1495 provides the figure of 15,000 men, 2,000 horse and 35 cannons. The Österreichische Militarische Zeitschrift, 1819, provides figures of 16,000 men, 2,000 horse. Other source documents quote figures in the same range.
